FIREWORKS BOOTH SECURITY TIPS

- ◆ Maintain key control: provide keys to as few people as possible.
- ◆ Use a daily log to help you keep track of inventory sold.
- ◆ Have a sign-in sheet for the booth workers: include name, address, phone number, starting and quitting time.
- ◆ Keep exit doors closed at all times. Hang bells/noise maker on the door to alert you when someone is entering the booth.
- ◆ Ask for a second form of ID when credit/debit card being used.
- ◆ Share information with other booths about counterfeit money or fraudulent credit cards.
- ◆ Be aware of suspicious loitering.

- ◆ Limit the amount of cash on hand; make frequent deposits if necessary.
- ◆ Keep the number of cash box handlers to a minimum: have one person in charge of the cash box.
- ◆ Use a secure cash box: preferably one that can be locked when not in use.
- ◆ Anchor the cash box to a secure location so that it cannot be easily removed.
- ◆ When accepting checks:
 - Ask for some form of picture I.D.
 - Get a right hand thumbprint on the document. Any standard inkpad can be used for this purpose. Make sure the ridgelines in the print are visible. You should not end up with just an ink blob.
 - Have the person handling the check transaction note their initials on the check. This will help the police if they need to investigate a fraudulent check case.

The New $100 Note

Know Its Features. Know It's Real.

In order to keep counterfeiting low, the U.S. government continues to enhance the security of its currency. The redesigned $100 note introduces two advanced security features: the 3-D Security Ribbon and the Ball in the Inkwell. It also includes several highly effective features used in other U.S. denominations, such as the portrait watermark and security thread.

To ensure a seamless introduction of the new $100 note, the U.S. government is conducting a global public education program to inform those who use it about the changes. Even with the most technologically advanced security features, it's you — the educated consumer — who continues to be the best line of defense against counterfeiting. Protect yourself — it only takes a few seconds to check the new $100 note and know it's real.

It is not necessary to trade in your old-design notes for new ones. All U.S. currency remains legal tender, regardless of when it was issued.

For more information, visit www.newmoney.gov.

The Latest In U.S. Currency Design

(The $1 and $2 notes will continue to circulate but will not be redesigned.)

If You Suspect a Counterfeit Note

If you receive a note that you suspect is counterfeit, or if you question a note that is already in your possession, turn it over to local police. If the note is genuine, it will be returned as soon as possible. If the note is counterfeit, you will not be reimbursed. It is against the law to knowingly pass a counterfeit note.

3-D Security Ribbon

Tilt the note back and forth while focusing on the blue ribbon. You will see the bells change to 100s as they move. The ribbon is woven into the paper, not printed on it.

Bell in the Inkwell

Tilt the note to see the color-shifting bell in the copper inkwell change from copper to green.

1. Portrait Watermark

Hold the note to light and look for a faint image of Benjamin Franklin in the blank space to the right of the portrait.

2. Security Thread

Hold the note to light to see an embedded thread running vertically to the left of the portrait. The thread is imprinted with the letters USA and the numeral 100 in an alternating pattern and is visible from both sides of the note. The thread glows pink when illuminated by ultraviolet light.

3. Color-Shifting 100

Tilt the note to see the numeral 100 in the lower right corner of the front of the note shift from copper to green.

4. Raised Printing

Move your finger up and down Benjamin Franklin's shoulder on the left side of the note. It should feel rough to the touch, a result of the enhanced intaglio printing process used to create the image. Traditional raised printing can be felt throughout the $100 note, and gives genuine U.S. currency its distinctive texture.

5. Gold 100

Look for a large gold numeral 100 on the back of the note. It helps those with visual impairments distinguish the denomination.

6. Microprinting

Look carefully to see the small printed words which appear on Benjamin Franklin's jacket collar, around the blank space containing the portrait watermark, along the golden quill, and in the note borders.

FW Indicator (not shown here)

The redesigned $100 notes printed in Fort Worth, Texas, will have a small FW in the top left corner on the front of the note to the right of the numeral 100. If a note does not have an FW Indicator, it was printed in Washington, D.C.

2004 style Federal Reserve notes (FRNs) incorporate background colors and large, borderless portrait images.

Paper U.S. currency paper consists of 25% linen and 75% cotton and contains small randomly dispersed red and blue security fibers embedded throughout the paper.

Portrait The 2004 style FRNs have an enlarged and off-center portrait without a frame.

1 Watermark The 2004 style FRNs have a watermark that is visible from either side when held to light.

2 Color-Shifting Ink The 2004 style $10, $20, $50 and $100 FRNs have color-shifting ink that shifts from copper to green as the note is tilted 45 degrees. The 2004 style $100 FRN has a color-shifting "Bell in the Hkwell". The $5 FRN does not have color-shifting ink.

3 Security Thread All genuine FRNs, except the $1 and $2, have a clear thread embedded vertically in the paper. The thread is inscribed with the denomination of the note and is visible only when held to light. Each denomination has a unique thread position and glows a different color when held to ultraviolet (UV) light.

4 3-D Security Ribbon The 2004 style $100 FRN features a blue ribbon woven into the paper. When you tilt the note back and forth, the bells and "100's" move side to side. If you tilt the note side to side, they move up and down.

5 Serial Numbers The first letter of the serial number on FRNs of series year 1996 or later corresponds to the series year.
